Dear Members:

I am writing to URGE you to maintain the switched telephone network, so that landline telephones will not be dismantled. Once we start down this road, there'll be no turning back, and many more people could become ES.

My wife has Electromagnetic Sensitivities, and can become very ill from exposures. She is also disabled, and has been homebound since 1994. The (landline) telephone is basically her only communication with the outside world, as she cannot use a cellphone.

We do not have a computer because of her illness.

I understand there's almost 10 million people who have Electromagnetic Sensitivities[Ⓢ]. Eliminating landline telephones will deny them telephone communication.

Please maintain the switched telephone network.

Sincerely,

Gregory Stevens
